THE NEAR EAST.

A Debate in the House of Lords. RPEECH BY LORD CURZON.

London, March 22nd. In the House of Lords this evening, Lord Curzon raised a general debate on the situation in the Near East.

THE SITUATION IN PERSIA. Lord Curzon said he was confident that the integrity and independence of Persia had no stauncher friends than His Majesty Government, but he wanted to know the actual position and if the throats in the recent note would not have to be adopted. He referred to Nasir-ul-Mulk, the Regent, as a personal friend. He had been an an undergraduate of the same College as Lord Curzon, and was a man of great abilities and lofty patriotism. Lord Curzon hoped he would receive every support and encouragement from Government, because all desired that the Constitutional experiment in Persia should be successful, and that Persia should retain her independence. GUN-RUNNING IN THE PERSIAN GULF.

He paid a tribute to the exertions of the East India Squadron in suppressing the arms traffic in the Persian Gulf, but said that the ships were unmitable. Vessels of high speed and small draught were, wanted. The French Trenty with Musent was the sele obstacle in the way of the complete suppression of the traffic, and he appealed to the humanity, chiralry, and justice France and to her friendship with England to end the traffic.

THE BAORDAD RAILWAY. Referring to the Parkeled Railway, Lord

Curron thought that the Eaghdad Railway Company's surrender of the Gulf section and made the situation much easier. Overthe whole area covered by the railway, British trade was predominant, and we must see that it did not suffer.

The clause prohibiting differentiation could easily be evaded, and he urged Government to withhold their consent for the money required until they were fully assured on this subject.

BRITISH TRADE WITH PERSIA. Trade with North and Central Persia, which was now going south, would probably be diverted to the Kkanikin branch, which would soon be connected with Telieran. -That, Lord Curzon said, was an alarming outlook for British trade, and he hoped Government would avail themselves of Persia's pledges, so that any Russian concession in the north might be balanced by a corresponding concession in the south. Our political interests were not confined to the Gulf, but extended to Baghdad and entitled us to a predominant influence in any question connected with that end of

THE KOWEIT TREATY. in conclusion, referring to Koweit, Lord Curzon said that, is the Viceroy who had negotiated the Koweit, Treaty, he declared that our position at Koweit could not be sion of five per centum on the net ignored, and he was sare that Covernment would not surrender their advantages. LORD MORLEY'S REPLY.

In reply, Lord Morley said that as regarded the trans-Persian railway the situation was far too immature for useful observations to be made. . THE PERSIAN RECENT.

Regarding Persia, he agreed with all that Lord Curzon had said. Government had great hopes of the Regent, who had alreidy shown himself to be a man of character, with views and a policy from which only satisfactory, results could be expected. THE SITUATION IN SOUTH PERSIA.

Regarding the south, it was impossible to say whether our action in November had much effect in restoring order. Possibly 'mittee may determine and in it had. There was an improvement, but whether it was due to the weather or other causes he did not know. Government could not be indifferent to the strategical 'Each member of the consulting and commercial considerations which rail way construction in Persia involved, but provided that those considerations could be satisfied by adequate British participation in any southern railway scheme that the Persian Government might adopt, Ris Majesty's Government could not construc their preferential rights in a narrow and ciclusive spirit."

THE PERSON GULF ARMS: TRAFFIC. Regarding the Persian Gulf, Government adhered to Lord Lansdowne's position in 1903. That ought to be satisfactory to claimed for five years after having Lord Curzon. The imports of arms into been declared may be forfeited by the Gulf by France were less than the imports of at least three other nations, clause shall not be deemed to con- and less than a tenth of the total. We * stitute the company a trustee of could not expect France to surrender her ends shall bear interest as against rights without a quid pro quo. We could the company and a dividend shall only impress upon France the difficulties which by maintaining the practices permitted under Treaty rights she created for us. Giving details, Lord Morley said that cintion of the company thereby there had been a decrease in the total arms traffic since 1908, and it fell still further

> THE BAGUDAD RAILWAY. Referring to the Baghdad Ruilway, Lord Morley dwelt on the difficulties arising out of the misjudgment of 1903, when Great Britain refused participation. It was impossible to get over the cardinal fact that it was a railway ands in Turkish territory, in virtue of a concession, from the Turkish Government, and in viewing the situation we must start from that plain and simple. fact, It was proposed to lay the Company's culier des charges before Parliament, but i did not appear prima fucis oither that the Porte or the Company contemplated an anti-British munipulation of rates. Government, however, fully realised the enormous importance of British trade interests. and the Government believed that they (Continued on Page 3.)

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

Its Cause and Cure. TN consequence of the stress of modern life, Nervous Dability is one of the most provalent disorders of mankind.

.The everlasting wear and tear of the nervous system incidental to the demands of daily life, are not repaired as readily as when mon lived more peacofully and had more time for the recuperative powers to exercise their influence on the body. The result is, we are all prone to make overdrafts on the bank of health. To conquer this evil we need something which will restore the excess of phosphorus used up in the vital processes and supply margin,—13 points to 8,—certainly owed a food which is easily digested and readily the the better side on the day' assimilated, for the tired body has not the nervous force necessary to digest the heavy foods mo tof us have to est. The preparation which supplies these essential qualities in an ideal form is Sanatogen. It is universally recognised by the medical profession as the world's greatest restorative and reconstituent. The phosphorus it contains rouses the feeble flame of vitality to a blaze, while the large quantity of nutritive casein of which it is, likewise, composed, is quickly and easily than Gotley and Stoop, though Gotle assimilated by the feeble digestive played a great game. Taking a broad view renewed strength and vigour, both of body

F.R.C.P., etc., Medical Officer of Health and Public Analyst, Dublin, says: "After analysing Sanatogen I have arrived at the conclusion that Sanatogen is a substance of the highest nutritive value, containing as it does a large amount, relatively speak ing, of organic phosphorus, that is, phosphorus which is offered, to the tissues in exactly the form in which it can be casily absorbed. It is an excellent nerve tonic. Sanatogen may be obtained of all Chamieta and Razzara

SCOTTISH SPORT.

(From Our Our Correspondent.) EDINBURGH, March 21. BUJDY INTERNATIONAL SCOTIAND V.

The International Rugby match. Twickenlinin was not a Bannockburn : was another Flodden. Scotland was de feated by England ; lost the Calcutta Cur and became the unwilling possessors of th wooden spoon. The English Eifteen. they did not prove victorious by a large play. But the fight was keen an close from starts to finish. The advan tage of England lay in the individua superiority and greater experience of their three-quarters as a line. This proved the deciding factor in the game. Scotland were

if anything, better forward, while as pair Henderson and Milroy were bette the match, if Scotland had somewhat Sir Charles A. Cameron, C.M., M.D. | were slightly inferior at three-quarter been Simson's second and not his fir International. Simson's failure to tal and give passes meant the complet starving of a great scoring wing in Stein and the absence of all effective combination in the Scottish third lines. Had the Scotti side, like the English one, been playing their fourth match as a team, the rest might well have been reversed. England sole superiority, lay at three-quarters, a > and play with more confidence. OTHER OAMES. In their return with the Institution, R. H. S. reversed the result of the first meeting with little to spare. Gala v. Selkirk was a mud fight, which Gala pulled off by greater weight. Hawick, despite the fact that they had three men requisitioned for the International, were a goal and a try better than Melrose West of Scotland defeated, Old Larchfieldians by 20 points to 3. , CTHE SCHOOLS.

Panmuro beat Dundee High School in the deciding game-for the Midland League Championship, and thus qualified to meet Aberdeen for the Championship of the North of Scotland. Glasgow Academy defeated Heriotis, and Dollar Institution were slightly better than Glasgow High

ASSOCIATION INT RNATIONAL CHAM-

'Scotland defeated Ireland under Association Football rules at Glasgow by 2 goals to 0. The game was a disappointing one. Bothsides, it is true, were badly handlesped by half a gale of wind and several showers of hail and sleet; Est even allowing for the weather conditions, few of the players added to their reputation. Scotland used to depend upon her home clubs for this match; in recent years, however, the services of several Anglo-Scots have been called upon; and on this occasion there were no fewer than five in the team.

At the start, Scotland floundered, and Ireland had a big share of the aggressive work ;-they had their chance and lost it. They were handicapped by hap-hazard methods, and at no time did their halves and forwards combine together effectively. Then the Scots came to themselves, and took a grip of the game, which they never afterwards lost. Their combination, unlike that of their opponents, was quite good. Splicial notice falls to be taken of the play between "Hay (Celtic) and the left forwards and Aitken (Lefcester) and M'Menemy (Celtic). Smith (Rangers) had two centres missed but a third found Reid (Rangers) waiting, and he scored a great goal ;-the ball might as casily have gone to the corner flag as to the back of the net, and he had to take it in its flight, and at an acute angle. It looked as if Reid were going to repeat the performance a few minutes later; but Scott

(Everton) literally picked the ball from his feet. Ireland tried hard to draw level, but In the second half, Ireland playedran almost entirely defensive game, and Scott had a busy time of it. He fielded a ball cleverly and bent Reid on moment later, and a shot by M'Menemy deceived-him. the ball, however, struck the post and rebounded into play. Again he stopped a shot by Reid; again M'Menemy got the. better of him, this time turning a corner kick by Smith, into the net. This goal settled the game. .. Higgins (Newcastle United) and Smith had a pretty bout of passing ; and later on Smith put in a great shot-which Scott did well to hist out at the expense of a corner. Scotland had the pull right up to the end, and poor work at close quarters was responsible for the want of further scoring. For Scotland, Walker (Swindon) was the grentest success. His tackling was always sound, and he found time to lend assistance to Colman (Aberdeen), who was not seen at his best. M'Menemy and Douglas. (Cheleen) failed to combine, though each gave clever performances. The Irish team were a moderate lot; the forwards were weak, but the backs were hard workers. THE LEAGUE.

Although three of their forwards and a half back were engaged in the "International. Rangers have such a wealth of reserve talent that they won easily against Queen's Park. The amateurs made a feeble appearance forward, and although their defence was good for most of the game, it could not hold out without assistance. Abordoon were just as superior at Airdrie,- a stiffer fight had been expected, -and Nicol scored another wonderful goal. Rangers and Aberdeen are practically running neck and nock. On paper, Aberdeen seem to have the better chance of finishing first in the competition. Rangers lines the more dangerous opponents to meet, and it i almost certain they will be more heavily called upon for the remaining Inter nationals. Falkirk has made a good recovery, and is the third team. They will reach the front if both the leaders come bad croppers,—an unlikely event. At the other and of the table. Motherwell seems fated to join the Queen's Park in the penalty Qualifying Cop next senson.

A FURNITURE DISPUTE

A dispute about a quantity of furniture at Aguaprista, Chihuahua, on March came before Mr Justice Hazeland for set-'tlement at the Supreme Court this moming, when Mrs Monti sued Cheong Lee and Co., for the return of her furniture or $998.90 the value thereof. Mr Otto Kong Singappeared for plaintiff and Mr R. E. Hind defended.

Mr Otto Kong Sing said the case was a peculiar one, it being an action by plaintiff for the return of certain furniture or the equivilent of same. Plaintiff bought from defendant the furniture for which she paid $300 down and it was agreed between the parties that plaintiff was to pay as much as she could from time to time. There was no question of hiring the furniture.

Mr Hind-I am not setting up

Mr Otto Kong Sing, continuing, said that it was now admitted by his friend that the goods were bought and paid for at a certain value and plaintiff went on paying to ascertain their strength. It is believed month by month and made several payments. This year she got into difficulties Blanco's force was stationed. The federals with her landlord about the rent and ale went to defendant and asked him to buy the furniture back. [Defendant asked] her to sign a paper which she did not know about but she understood that the furniture was to be put up to auction and she was to get what it fetched. As a matter of fact the document said that defendant would paid $60 for the rent. The furniture was taken back by defendant, and plaintiff had not had an account or the money. Evidence was called.

His Lordship reserved judgment.

CORRESPONDENCE.

RACECOURSE GATHERINGS.

(To the Editor of the "CHISA MAIL.") Sin.—It has been customary to invite the Ladies of Hongkong to use the enclosure and grand stand at Happy Valley during the races and gymkhanas and this invitation has hitherto been largely and gratefully availed of. Unless, however, stops are taken prevent the attendance within the esclosure of a cortain class, who used formerly to have a separate stand at the southern end of the enclosure, the wives and daughters of other residents will be com-pelled to decline the invitation.

It is not pleasant for ladies to see young ball-room treating these women as their equals in society.

While it would be absurd to cavil at the presence of demissiondaines upon a Europear race-course, where the great majority are strangers to each other, it is another matter in a small place like Hongkong where the European Indies form such small proportion of the population.

If the Governor, the General and the Cummodore will, as Stewards of the Jockey Club, direct the policy to act as they did when, some years ngo, the presence of these women hoenme a nuisance in the Public Cardens, they will abate what throatens to become a nexious sandal and earn the gratitude of a considerable section of the community. -- Yours faithfully.

Bodyguard and Chairbearers Explain.

Choung had before him the several men who were responsible for the safety of Fu Chi, the assassinated Tartar General. They amounted to thirty persons in all. The bodyguard comprised sixteen men, and the chairbearers numbered eight. They were heard in batches, and their testimonies compared. The bodyguard asserted that they were supplied with rifles without any ammunition, and, therefore, they were unable to do anything. Former officials of the same rank as Fu used to supply their bodyguard with ammunition, and he was the first who dispensed with this precaution. are transmissible by the SIBERIAN route The annual Spring Festival in honour of the birthday of the Goddess of Heaven is i present taking place at Chek Wan. PAKHOI & HAIPHONG. It commenced on the 16th inst., and will continue until the 21st. As usual, it is Arnwing huge crowds of Chinese from MOJI, KOBE, YOKOHAMA,"HONO Hongkong, as well as a goodly number of Europeans who have taken advantage of the numerous excursions in order to witmess the strange sights which are to be witnessed during the propitation of the dicties. Worship was originally the chief feature of the Festival, and although this element still figure- prominently in the SINGAPORE, PENANG & COLOMBO. proceedings, yet the tendency has become to regard the occasion largely as a glorified SHANGHAI, YOKOHAMA & KOBE. Chinese fair. All manner of goods are displayed for sale, and formerly gambling was carried on in a big way at the Festival. but for the first time in its history this latter feature is missing, owing to the suppression of gambling throughout the KUCHINOTZU, KOBE, YOKOHAMA, Province.

One of the most striking features of the Festival is a long bamboo bridge leading from the landing stage to the magnificent temple on the hills. This temple was crected some 15 years ago by public subecription at a cost of something like River steamers, steam launches, native junks and all manner of craft have been leaving Hongkong for the scene of the Festival during-the past"two days, and they will continue to do so until the ceremonies are brought to an end......

Yesterday the above Sunday School had ga enjoyable picnic to Seaton. The officers of the Sunday tchool responsible for the arrangements. There were two launches, and the party numbered over two hundred. Arrangements were made for the amusement of the little ones: their elders also indulged in games of the manal kind. Unfortunately, just as the tea was being arranged, rain fell, and so all had to take shelter under cover, and this for a little time made things somewhat ampleasant. But everybody was in a good temper, and all trouble was forgetten in a good tea. Later the rain o ased and the smusements were resumed. It was arranged that all the children should have prizes, and on that count there was no disappointment. Mr Fenrie was the master of the ceremonies, but was ably -up, out it. toy marry willing hands. The conting was in every way enjoyable, and am the rutera journey there was plenty of singing, and good fellowship.
